British Airways Chooses GlobalExpense for its Employee Expense Management

British Airways, the leading full service global airline, has signed a contract with GlobalExpense to provide its employee expense management.

Following a decision to change the way the company tackles its employee expenses, British Airways explored a number of alternative solutions available in the marketplace. After careful consideration, British Airways has decided to turn to the unique end to end service provided by GlobalExpense to deliver process efficiency, drive down expenditure, and ensure Income Tax and VAT compliance.

David Vine, Managing Director for GlobalExpense, commented: "GlobalExpense is delighted to be working together with British Airways. Our business is focussed on delivering real service and benefits to our clients. We're looking forward to working with the team at British Airways to deliver significant benefits to the airline."

EDITOR'S NOTES

GlobalExpense provides an individually tailored expense management service for businesses across Europe. This enables organisations to outsource their entire expense process to an expert third party and benefit both from increased accuracy, policy, VAT and Tax compliance, and reduced administration costs.

Founded in 1999, the GlobalExpense service was designed by a specialist team with expert knowledge of accounting and tax. The GlobalExpense solution relieves clients of the high volume, low value time-consuming duty of processing employee expense claims and complying with the law. At the same time, GlobalExpense's economies of scale allow them to pass on direct savings, improved management information and an excellent service to their clients and their employees.

Clients include a wide range of large and smaller businesses, including, Sainsbury's, Global Radio Services, Brakes, Reckitt - Benckiser, WH Smith plc, and Fujitsu-Siemens Computers Inc.
